

Please join us for a conversation with Sharon Sayles Belton. This will be the second in a series of conversations at Mitchell Hamline exploring the African-American experience in Minnesota.

Sayles Belton was the first African-American and the first woman to be elected mayor of Minneapolis. Before that, she served on the Minneapolis City Council. She now serves as vice president of community relations and government affairs for Thomson Reuters Legal.

Wednesday
November 9
6-8 pm

Kelley Boardroom
Mitchell Hamline
School of Law
875 Summit Ave.
St. Paul

To learn more and to register, please contact Sharon.VanLeer@mitchellhamline.edu.